Fr David writes...

It is ok to take good care of ourselves. By wearing the appropriate clothes is a kind of self-respect. The manner in which we present ourselves to the world is essential. The image that we want to project ourselves gives expression to our own unique personality. One of the ways that we love ourselves is through the image that we project to others. There is a certain dress code in order to go to a job interview for example. There is another way of dress code when we are relaxed with friends. I think common sense does come into the picture here. However sometimes common sense is not common at all. The REAL problem is created when the IMAGE becomes the most important element in our lives. We start believing that only designer clothes for example give us a sense of self-acceptance. When we start buying always from the "right" supermarkets in order to be seen. When we just love to rub shoulders with the powerful, the movers and the shakers. The type of person who loves to be seen is a well-known character in literature and life in general. When we start feeling a sense of entitlement – we start living in a very exclusive world – we start looking down at people who are not coming from our own class system. We don't even feel that we can socialise with them. We feel that we are superior to others. Sometimes this attitude stems from deep feelings of inferiority. It is called inverted snobbery.

How beautiful it is to meet someone who can feel at ease with people from different cultural and socio-economic backgrounds. When someone values not the bank account or the position in society of the individual but the richness of the character. There is something so enriching when we meet people who lack pretence and meet you where you are at. It is so refreshing to meet genuinely nice people without any hint of airs.

From today's gospel we realise that even in Jesus' time these people were readily spotted and existed. Human nature seems not to have changed much. Jesus is especially critical of this character type. Who also happens to be a religious leader, who swallow the property of widows. They pray for show, and enjoy the privileges that come with the office. Their condemnation will be severe according to Jesus. In many respects Jesus' critique of the religious authorities is echoed nowadays by Pope Francis' critique of clericalism – us priests, bishops and Cardinals. However even though maybe you are not part of any religious authority, the critique can apply to you to. How are we using our positions in authority? Our roles at work? In the organisations we are part of? Do we feel a sense of entitlement and superiority? In the second vignette in today's gospel, Jesus criticises the rich, who give large sums of money to make a show and to attract the attention to their giving. Even though their gifts were large, and undoubtedly made a difference, these people gave from their excess. It was pocket change and not milk money.

The scene is set in the Temple area. Around the walls of the court of women there were thirteen collecting boxes, known from their shape as trumpets. They were set up for people's contributions towards the costs of the sacrifices and running expenses of the temple. Many rich people put in large sums of money – some no doubt, trumpeting the size of their collection. However a poor widow put in two of the smallest coins in circulation. In the arithmetic of the kingdom the widow's offering is worth more than all the other contributions. Whereas the others give from their surplus, she gives milk money. For Jesus it seems that true generosity is measured not by what people give but by what they have left after they give. The poor widow leaves herself with nothing. She cannot give more, for she has nothing more to give. In Jesus' estimation she is a mighty widow. This action reminds me of what Saint Mother Theresa used to say – "Love until it hurts". This widow in giving everything, had to live in faith in the providence of God towards her. She must have been a truly free person inside. This type of lifestyle is not for the faint hearted. Normally we calculate whether we and our families are comfortable before we decide to give. It is a natural way of behaviour.

Jesus hopes that his disciples will take up the cue from that example of real piety, not from the scribes hungry for status and honour. He hopes that we as his followers would be equally generous with our own resources. Those resources are not always measured in money. We are invited to give of our time, our talents and gifts, our understanding. We are asked to give not only just from our abundance but from our substance. That kind of giving always hurts because we feel all spent after it. Like the widow we might feel that we have nothing else to give. Somehow Jesus is inviting us to live by this paradox. That there is life and freedom in loving until it hurts. Everyday demands are made on us. You as parents, grandparents, managers and colleagues. We surely need to take good care of ourselves first but let us pray to God to give us the ability not to be scared in giving of ourselves, of our love, our forgiveness, our patience, our resources. Let us not always count the cost. Because, as St Francis of Assisi states - it is in giving that we receive, it is when we pardon that we are pardoned, and it is in dying that we are born in eternal life. Do we believe this statement?

Thank You from Fr Barry

Calling all kids year 2 and up to help sing for the Christmas 9:15 Mass.

We need your voices to get into the Christmas Spirit!

There will be several practice sessions where we will sing through the songs. We are singing songs which will be familiar to the Children.

To make this as convenient as possible, sessions are 10:20am - 10:50am (between the two Masses) in the side room of the Parish Hall. Parents could have a Coffee/Tea while we sing through the hymns.

Sessions:

10:20am - 10:50am Nov 25th, Dec 2nd, 9th and 16th

Please come to as many of the sessions as you can. Ideally at least 2.

If you are interested, please give your names to youthchoir.stjames@gmail.com so we have an idea of numbers.

Finance Pillar

Fundraising by shopping online

Several parishioners over the last few years have helped the parish by raising donations through easyfundraising.org.uk. Recently we reached the milestone of £3,000, for which we thank everyone who has made purchases that way. Over 3,400 retailers including Amazon, eBay, M&S, John Lewis, Argos, Booking.com, tour operators, now make donations on every purchase (from 0.5% to 5% of cost). The top supporter parishioner has raised £388 (all transactions are completely anonymous), so why not embrace the idea and help St James'? To get started, follow the item on the left menu bar of the parish website. Once you've registered, you have the option to install an automatic donation reminder in your browser to make sure no purchase misses its reward. Any questions, please contact roger.wright@stjamespettswood.org. Thank you.

Justice & Peace

Greeting cards to Victims of Injustice

After all Masses next weekend there will be an opportunity for everyone to send a message of hope in a greeting card to a victim of injustice, from a selection made by the Justice & Peace Group. Here is a chance to show solidarity with someone to whom a simple greeting will be a great encouragement, a reminder that they are not forgotten. The cards will go all over the world, so a postage contribution of £1 would be appreciated.

Foodbank Christmas hampers

The organisers are now preparing for Christmas, and have sent a list of items they try to provide for those in need at this time. Ideally, they would like to receive these items by the first week in December, but earlier is fine. So if you can help by donating any of the following items, we should be very grateful: mince pies, various sized Christmas puddings, tinned salmon, pickles/chutneys, Christmas biscuits, Christmas cake/fruit cake, Christmas sweets/chocolates, biscuits for cheese, Christmas savoury assortments (crisps, pretzels, nuts, etc.), large tinned hams, any other Christmas items. £5 supermarket vouchers are also very useful additions to a hamper.

Global Healing

If you are on the CAFOD mailing list, you will probably receive information and a flyer about a film called "Global Healing". Anyone may watch this online, but parishioners can also borrow the J&P Group's DVD copy of the film free of charge. Better still, the Group will be organising an event next year featuring the film and offering the parish an opportunity to reflect on Our Common Home, as Pope Francis calls Earth in his encyclical Laudato Si'. As you can read elsewhere in Briefly, St Joseph's is holding two reflection evenings during Advent based on "Global Healing". Please contact roger.wright@stjamespettswood.org if you would like to borrow the film or get the online link.

Memorial Rose Garden

We have ten red rose bushes that have been planted in our memorial rose garden, if you would like to purchase one in memory of a loved one please complete the form at the back of the church, take the envelope supplied and post it through the parish office or pop it in the Mass Intention box. Roses cost £15. Thank you.
